Good morning I have compiled this email whilst at the public consultation of the Stroud district local plan. I would like to see a development site specifically targeted for homes affordable in perpetuity that are also self-build. As a relatively small site around 50 houses this has the potential to be a really dynamic high-profile flagship development bringing together the best sustainable development techniques with self build and provision for affordable homes. The Stroud population has the right skills interest and motivation to achieve this and such a site could be of national significance. It is important that they not be just another example of grand designs big budget builds I have been involved in a few of these in the past and we do need more of them. Cheers
Adrian
